DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

- 1. Claims 2-8 and 10-12 are allowed.
- 2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

With respect to Claim 2, reference Takahashi discloses a display device and reference Vasoya teaches the use of imperfect connection parts. None of the prior art teaches the imperfect connection parts extend between the printed circuit boards for bridging in the direction which connects end peripheries of the printed circuit boards for bridging along the widthwise direction.

With respect to Claim 3, reference Takahashi discloses a display device and reference Lee et al. (Patent No: 6,954,985) teaches the imperfect connection parts are constituted of an imperfect connection parts (M-L PCB is no longer "perfect") of a first row (figure 4, 1c – upper section) which are intermittently arranged in the longitudinal direction (placed on either top or bottom of M-L PCB and not on the sides of figure 4) of the multi-layered printed circuit board and imperfect connection parts of a second row (1c – lower section) which are intermittently arranged in the longitudinal direction of the multi-layered printed circuit board. None of the prior art teaches the imperfect connection parts of the first row are formed between arrangements of the printed circuit boards for bridging and the imperfect connection parts of the second row are formed at positions where the printed circuit boards for bridging are overlapped to the multi-layered printed circuit board.

With respect to Claim 11, reference Takahashi discloses a display device. None of the prior art teaches the discontinued areas of the sheet fiber member which are formed in the base sheet of the multi-layered printed circuit board extend in the direction which traverses the extending direction of the base sheet so as to divide the sheet fiber member into sections.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
